Customer Reviews

I found myself so involved in this book that when I came to the end i really tried flipping the page for more and saying why isn’t it turning Only to realize it was the end.Not that it didn’t seem like the end i just did t want it to end and what a great ending it was to this series.I’d have to say I kind of figured out one part but not even really close to how it did end.Usually i know by the time I’m gettimg close how it’s its going to turn out but not this one.It starts out with Dal being her ansey little fighter self she is. And she has even cooler gifts now. So was laughing in chapter one. Even though it was quite a serious situation Dal turned it comical.She just becomes more amazing with each book and as always I'm sad to lose the characters I fall in love with . This book was no exception to that loss I geel at the end.Dal is amazing and spunkier then ever. Standing up more and more against Dax until of course their alone. She a really shows alot more vulnerabity towards him in this book. Letting someone n finally after being so guarded all this time and Dax actually opens up to Dal. Which took me by suprise.Who ever though Dax had a vulnerable side? Not me. But Dal brings his out because as you can guess she's been the love of his life since he met her and vise versa.There's just so much more action in the book and even with the sorrow there's so many times i found myself laughing out loud.Other times it was so brutal, bloody and gory your says ewwe..thats nasty..Then bookie coming to life with no answers brings in some mystery, little Tiff really ends up making everythung very interesting.
